

ABSTRACT

A sensor/switching device configuration that includes a substrate and at least one element imprinted on the substrate containing an electroconductive material.